The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, JULY 11TH, 1913.

The public at home has been regaled lately in the Times with some account of the "amazing prosperity" of Hongkong. Perhaps the most eloquent yet concise illustration of this progress is to be found in just two lines of the Acting Colonial Secretary's Report on the Blue-Book for 1912 now published. "For the period 1903-1912," it states, "the assessment of the whole Colony has risen from $8,788,063 to $12,312,306, an increase in value of 40.10 per cent." Evidence of further growth are not wanting. We are told in the Report that the year 1912 was chiefly noted for the sale of a considerable number of building lots adjacent to the City, chiefly in the neighbourhood of Kennedy Road, on which blocks of European-style residences are being erected by the purchasers. Moreover, the Report mentions that there has again been a considerable increase both in the number and value of private properties which have changed hands. "The total purchase moneys paid amounted to $19,029,986 as against $15,343,234 in the previous year. The prices given in many instances, the Hon. Mr. Thomson observes, appear to be much above the value of the property as an investment, whilst in other cases the value of property adjoining has remained more or less stationary. Many old buildings have been pulled down and have been rebuilt with modern terraces and dwelling houses for the accommodation of the better-class Chinese. This Report, of course refers to the conditions prevailing in 1912, but this building activity continues in many directions in the Colony, and we have very good reasons for predicting that the building boom is likely to continue for some time to come. As a further concrete illustration of the Colony's growth, we might direct attention to the bank-note circulation. The Report under notes mentions that the circulation of notes of the three Banks having authorised issues on December 31st, 1912 was $25,610,211. Turning back to the return for December 31st, 1903, we find that the bank-note circulation then was $10,880,582. The increase is, in fact, greater than these figures show, because these returns take cognisance only of the issues by the authorised Banks, while, as the Report on the Blue Book does not fail to mention, a "large number" of one-dollar notes, issued by the Portuguese Banco Nacional Ultramarino, and payable at Macao, are also in circulation, as well as "a certain number" of notes issued by the Republican Government of Canton. There were no such notes in 1903; so that we may conclude that the notes in circulation in the Colony are now about 60 per cent. more than was the case ten years ago. A third test of progress may be found in the shipping returns. In 1903, the total of the shipping entering and clearing at the ports in the Colony was returned as 24,039,862 tons; in 1912 the total tonnage was 36,735,149—an increase of nearly 12½ million tons. It is frequently said, however, that the growth in tonnage passing through the port is no sure index of the prosperity of the Colony, as it is well-known that a great deal of transshipment business, affording employment to thousands of coolies, has been lost to the port within the past ten years, the cargoes being now conveyed direct to or from the nearest port of the actual market. While this is perfectly true, it does not follow that the actual business of the port now is less than it was before the "direct shipment" movement set in; all that can be said concerning it is that the volume of business is not so great as it would have been had all the transshipment business been maintained. For the purposes of estimating the prosperity of the Colony it is unfortunate that there are no complete returns of the trade of the port. Approximately accurate figures are obtainable only in a very few articles of trade and these show that the general trend of the trade is towards expansion. The increase in population, in the circulation of currency notes, and also the increase in cost of living—all point to growth in the business of the port. We do not forget that the Revolution in China in 1911 practically converted the Colony into a "huge refugee camp" and that we consequently had a very large proportion of coolies in this hive of industry. No doubt the proportion is large still, but a noteworthy fact is that according to evidence given last week by the Medical Officer of Health the pressure of the Chinese population upon the available house accommodation is still very great, and consequently there is even now a great deal of overcrowding. We take it that new business in some form or other must have been created in the Colony to keep a large proportion of the refugees here. The activity in the building trade possibly has absorbed some of the surplus labour, and, in any case, the needs of an increased population necessarily demand additional labour to supply them. We regret that we cannot discover from the Report that the Industries of the Colony have absorbed much of this labour. There have been no new industrial developments, and the established industries show no marked improvement in their business, except in the case of the cotton spinning factory and in those producing knitted socks and vests. The Revolution caused a phenomenal increase in the import of cotton, including cotton yarn and cotton piece goods, and it is mentioned that this large increase—51.4 per cent.—does not include the large and increasing quantity of native-grown cotton spun in the Colony, and re-exported as yarn. In this connection we note that there are now six factories in the Colony producing knitted vests and socks, "all doing a considerable business, to meet the large and increasing local demand for these articles." There is a fine field for industrial development within the Colony of Hongkong, especially on the Kowloon Peninsula, and we have little doubt that in the years to come factories of one kind or another will become a much greater feature in the prosperity of the Colony than they are at the present time. The history of the past, and the indications of the present, give warrant for no pessimism regarding the future of Hongkong.

The plague return yesterday was a blank.

A Chinese was at the Magistracy yesterday sentenced to one month's hard labour and four hours' stocks for stealing a suit of clothes.

An interesting "Aeronautical view of the Panama Canal" has been published by the Japanese Chamber of Commerce at Yokohama.

Mr. George W. Guthrie, the American Ambassador, will sail from San Francisco on the Mongolia on July 16th, arriving at Yokohama on August 2nd.

Sentence of four months' imprisonment was yesterday at the Magistracy passed upon a Japanese for stabbing a Japanese steward on board the s.s. Tsun Maru.

Three Indian seamen belonging to the Standard Oil Company's ship lying off Laichikok met their deaths on board yesterday. Particulars of the tragedy have not yet been made known, but it is understood that the men entered one of the tanks and were afterwards found dead.

The Water Return for July 1st, circulated yesterday showed that on that date the water in the storage reservoirs on the island totalled 549.02 millions of gallons as compared with 441.36 millions on the corresponding date of last year. At Kowloon the supply was 317.85 million gallons as compared with 222.55 millions on the same date last year.

THE SOTTO CASE.

THE CASE FOR THE DEFENCE.

The hearing was continued before Mr. F. A. Hazeland yesterday afternoon of the application of the Philippine Government for the surrender of Vicente Sotto, editor of The Philippine Republic.

Mr. Geo. K. Hall Bruton, who is appearing for the defence, continued his address to the Court, submitting the last two points of his motion asking for the discharge of Sotto.

The first point he dealt with was that of res-judicata. He cited a recent judgment handed down by the Privy Council of London, in which a German subject was discharged. The case was the following:—A German committed a crime in Berlin and went to India, where he was arrested. During the hearing of his case, the Magistrate refused to accept some evidence of the defendant, who was then committed to gaol. The defendant applied for a writ of Habeas Corpus and was released by the Supreme Court, on the ground that there was error of proceedings. Afterwards, the German went to London, and there he was again arrested for the same crime. When the case came up before the Privy Council, this high tribunal discharged the German, on the ground of res-judicata. Mr. Bruton then submitted to the Court that the Sotto case was completely identical with that of the German. His Worship now had before him the same case and the same evidence which were presented in the first extradition proceedings in March last, in which Sotto was discharged by the Full Court of Hongkong, on the ground that there was no evidence, and, therefore, it was a case of res-judicata.

The second point was about the Order-in-Council. Mr. Bruton stated that the prosecution, not having produced the Order-in-Council, his Worship could not decide whether or not an Extradition Treaty exists between England and the United States.

MAGNETIC SURVEY OF THE

At the rooms of the Royal Geographical Society, recently, Dr. L. A. Bauer, director of the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism at the Carnegie Institution, New York, described the result of the magnetic survey of the oceans made in the brigantine Gulder and the yacht Carnegie. He said that the Carnegie will complete a four years' circumnavigation cruise by the end of the year, and then the two vessels will have voyaged 140,000 miles. Special tests had been made in various parts of the world, and it had been conclusively shown that in connection with the instruments absolutely non-magnetic conditions had been secured. The result was that the leading hydrographic establishments with a promptness heretofore impossible, in addition to the work at sea, expeditions are sent to the regions in all parts of the world, where few or no magnetic data have previously been obtained, and the total number of land stations where the magnetic elements were determined during 1905-13 is about 2,000. Comparisons have been made of the magnetic standards of the department with those of the principal magnetic observatories and organisations making magnetic surveys. It will thus be possible to reduce the magnetic data of every country to the same standards with sufficient accuracy for all purposes. The department co-operates with Arctic and Antarctic expeditions, loaning instruments, training observers, and furnishing the required directions.

WAR IN THE BALKANS.

ROUMANIA'S POLICY.

Roumania learns that Roumania intends to occupy territory from Turtukai, on the Danube, to Balchik, on the Black Sea. Moreover, she will not permit any disturbance of the balance of power prejudicial to herself. Therefore, her Army will intervene in favour of Serbia or Bulgaria if either is dangerously threatened.

FIGHTING "ALLIES" DESIRE PEACE.

It is reported in Vienna that Bulgaria has intimated her readiness for peace. The Serbian and Bulgarian Commanders are negotiating for an armistice. The losses are so enormous that there are fears of cholera.

"THE MOST SANGUINARY BATTLE."

According to a Belgrade telegram, the Servians have re-occupied Iship after the most sanguinary battle in the Balkans.

The Servians, with Greeks, are advancing from Strumitza and are pursuing the Bulgarians.

The wounded already arrived at Belgrade exceed the total for the whole Turkish war.

WARLIKE ACTIVITY IN TURKEY.

The Bulgarian plenipotentiary, M. Hatchevitch, has arrived in Constantinople for the purpose of discussing the Porte's demand for the evacuation of the territory.

There is warlike activity in Constantinople, resembling that at the time of the war in Thrace.

CONFLICTING STORIES.

It is officially reported that the Bulgarians had successes yesterday all along the whole front, repulsing all the Serbian attacks with enormous losses, and then routing them with counter-attacks, the Bulgarians being in pursuit towards Egripalanka.

A sanguinary battle is in progress near Kochana, where the Servians were repulsed with considerable losses. The attacks by the Greeks north of Dorian were repulsed with great loss.

A report from Belgrade states that the Bulgarians were driven back along the entire frontier of Serbia with considerable losses.

Among the passengers in the Titanic, says a Paris message, was a French woman named Madame Brenys, who resided at Bethune. Her husband, a Belgian, aged thirty-eight years, having read her name among the list of those who had perished, formed an alliance with another woman and took up his residence some twenty miles from Bethune. About a month ago on receiving news that his wife was among the rescued and that she had returned to France and was searching for him he became so distraught that he killed the woman with whom he was living, and attempted his own life.

A POISONING TRAGEDY.

A poisoning tragedy took place on the German steamer Machau on Wednesday afternoon. One of the Chinese members of the crew brewed some herbs in order to make tea, but when he and a companion partook of the decoction they were seized with violent pains. One man succumbed, and the other was taken to hospital, where he lies in a serious condition.

HONGKONG SUBSIDIARY COINAGE.

Approving the passing of the Ordinance prohibiting the importation and circulation of foreign subsidiary silver coin in the Colony of Hongkong from March next year, the following extract from the Report on the Blue Book for 1912 is of much interest:—

The circulation of foreign copper coin is prohibited by Ordinance No. 11 of 1912, and there is now none such to be found.

The rate of discount on Hongkong subsidiary coin varied during 1912 between the following limits:—

50 cent pieces	1 per cent.	to 4 per cent.
20 "	3½ "	8 "
10 "	4½ "	8½ "
5 "	par "	5 "
Copper coin	8 "	12 "

The total issue of these coins, less those demonetized, amounts to some $37,432,370 nominal value, and they were up to the year 1905 readily absorbed at par, large quantities being taken by the neighbouring provinces of China. During 1912 twenty and ten cent pieces of the face value of $40,000 and $1,000,000 respectively were shipped to England for purposes of demonetization. The discount which has prevailed since 1905 may be attributed to the immense quantity of similar coin which has lately been minted at Canton. In 1905 the Hongkong Government ceased to issue any subsidiary coin and in 1906 it began a policy of demonetizing all its subsidiary coin received as revenue. This policy has been continuously followed since except during a brief period in 1911. Coin to the face value of about $7,000,000 has thus been redeemed. The total issue by the Hongkong Government was of the face value of about $44,000,000. It is calculated that about half of that amount has dropped out of circulation.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Princess Louise Duchess of Argyll is now the only member of the Royal family possessing a residence in the Isle of Wight—Kest Cottage. The King, of course, owns Barton Manor, but as His Majesty has never lived there, but has always lent it to friends, it cannot quite be called one of his residences.

Lord Avebury was the last survivor of the contributors to the first number of the Nineteenth Century. Tennyson, Gladstone, Cardinal Manning and Matthew Arnold were among the other contributors, who formed among them the most brilliant list ever gathered together on the title-page of a review.

Mr. Cecil Chesterton, who has been defendant in the Old Bailey libel case, is still in the early thirties, and a few years ago he achieved the distinction of being referred to by Punch as "that beaming boy." He has written a life of Nell Gwynn and a book on "Gladstonian Ghosts," the latter being a vigorous indictment of Liberal policy.

England is the garden of the world. That is the opinion of Sir Albert Rolitt. Speaking at the Royal Horticultural Hall, he said that as a result of his experience as judge at exhibitions both in this country and abroad he was convinced England led the world in horticulture, whether it be considered as a science, an art, or an industry.

M. Albert Turpain, Professor of Physics at Poitiers, has just solved an interesting problem in wireless telegraphy. He has made possible the photographic registration of the hour signals sent out by the Eiffel Tower. He has succeeded in this by the employment of very sensitive relays of wire only ten hundredths of a millimetre thick, and by the use of extremely sensitive galvanometers.

Lord Justice Farwell, whose retirement is announced, will go down in legal annals, apart from his more solid claims to remembrance, as the judge who declined to read Daudet's "Sapho" for the purpose of determining a literary case before him—a line of action which subjected him to considerable criticism at the time. The work was repulsive, he declared, and he did not see why he should read it. And so the duty was delegated to Sir Squire Baneroff instead of an agreed-to referee—though it was never made quite plain how the learned judge persuaded himself that it was right to ask Sir Squire to do what he had declined to do himself.

CHINA ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held yesterday at the offices of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. of the local branch of the China Association, for the purpose of re-constituting the branch.

Mr. M. W. Slade presided, and there were also present the Hon. Mr. David Landale, the Hon. Mr. E. Shellington, Messrs. J. W. H. Bonnar, W. G. Humphreys, N. J. Stabb, P. Tester, A. R. Lowe, H. W. Bird, C. W. Barton, C. Beswick, G. T. Edkins, E. L. Krauss, C. Ladrentz, H. R. Hancock, J. H. Beck, R. H. Holyoak, and L. N. Leefe (hon. secretary).

The Chairman said it was three years since they had had a meeting of this Association in this Colony. Meanwhile both the Chairman and the Hon. Secretary had left the Colony, at about the same time, and in consequence the records of the branch had got into a state of some confusion. Certain gentlemen interested in the work which the Association had in hand met together and took steps to reconstitute the branch. They did not know whom the members were, nor did they know who constituted the old Committee. Notice was sent round to find out who would really become members of the Association in Hongkong. The response to that circular was very good, and some 80 gentlemen in Hongkong and Canton signified their desire to be members.

The meeting was purely a formal one for the purpose of constituting the branch afresh, and for electing a Committee so as to get the branch into working order again. He hoped it would do the work equally as well as it had been done in the past under the able guidance of previous Committees. The funds were adequate, and accordingly, on the circular which was sent round, prospective members were notified that the subscription would be $2, but it had since been pointed out that the subscription at the end of the year would be raised to $10.

On the proposition of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. BONNAR, the following were elected as the Committee:—The Hon. Mr. D. Landale, the Hon. Mr. C. Montague Ede, Mr. M. W. Slade, Mr. N. J. Stabb, Mr. W. G. Humphreys, Mr. G. T. Edkins, Mr. P. E. Holyoak, and Mr. H. R. Hancock, with Mr. L. N. Leefe as Hon. Secretary.

THE RUSSIAN MILITARY BUDGET.

HARBIN, June 28th.

The following telegram is published in Northern papers:—

Telegrams from St. Petersburg report that during the discussion on the Budget of the Ministry of War, Delegate Protopopoff pointed out that in the Far East there were occurring changes of such a character that "we anticipate an outburst of political events, for which timely preparations must be made. The Russian Government must take firm and definite steps to strengthen the Russian position in the Far East. Recent experiences have not been sufficiently taken notice of and the Far East again appears to be forgotten, while our territory in Siberia remains for us merely an asset for national colonization, for loss of which we shall be held responsible by future generations." In comparing the undertakings of Russia with the rapid invasion of the Russian frontier provinces of China, with the development of Yellow navigation, the extremely rapid and successful military and trade reforms in China, the unceasing arming of China and Japan, the annexation of Korea and the influx of yellow nationalities and finally the Russian policy of adopting the line of least resistance, M. Protopopoff saw evident danger in the situation and considered that the protection of outlying territory by troops that had to be conveyed there when needed would be impossible. He then pointed out that the number of troops stationed at Omsk, Irkutsk and the Priamur military districts was not sufficient to inspire in the Russian population confidence of safety nor to convince Russia's neighbours of the danger of aggressive undertakings on their part. With reference to the situation on the Russo-Chinese frontier the speaker next emphasized the necessity to establish a Russian protectorate over Mongolia with a view to binding the Mongolians strongly to Russian economic interests. He pointed out that the important problem for Russia to consider was the defence of the Priamur, while the necessity of providing Vladivostok with water also required attention. In this connection, he reiterated that decisive measures were needed. He contended that the value of the Priamur had not fallen, but the danger of its loss was growing.

The Chief of the General Staff replied with reference to the shortage of water at Vladivostok that the garrison, the fortress and all places connected with water, but that the townspeople, specially during winter, were not, though the Ministry of War was doing all in its power to clear up the question.

The Financial Committee approved of a law for the maintenance of free trade with Mongolia in goods of Mongolian and Chinese origin on the frontiers of Yeniseisk, Tomsk, Stepanov and Turkestan Governor-Generalships, on the grounds that such free trade had been necessitated by the new treaty relations with Mongolia. The Committee also expressed a wish to extend free trade to the Mongolian frontiers of Irkutsk and the Trans-Baikal provinces.

PUBLIC DUTIES.
Hon. Mr. SHELLIM, pursuant to notice, asked the following question standing in his name:—

Will the Government state what steps if any are being taken to carry out the terms of the resolution adopted by Council in May, 1912, regarding the desirability of establishing public bathing places at the Eastern and Western extremities of the town, and for which purpose the sum of $2,000 was provided in the Estimates for this year?

The Colonial Secretary replied:—
The Government does not propose to take further steps in the matter at present pending the result of the experience of the action of the Low Level Tramway in erecting tents for bathers at the points mentioned.

NEW TERRITORIES REGULATION AMENDMENT ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to amend the New Territories Regulation Ordinance, 1910."

The Colonial Treasurer seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

The objects and reasons are:—
The object of this Bill is to enable a proper control to be exercised and maintained over markets, some few of which at present exist in the New Territories and which in future it may be desired should be established therein.

The object is effected by adding to section 6 of the New Territories Regulation Ordinance, 1910, to the powers which already exist under that section, further powers to the Governor-in-Council to fix and determine the boundaries of the markets for the New Territories and to make rules for the proper construction of such markets, the management and inspection of such markets, the class and nature of goods which may be sold therein, the sanitary conditions under which such markets are to be carried on, the purposes to which any funds derived from a market shall be devoted and for raising by means of fees the monies requisite for carrying on such market properly.

TRAMWAY AMENDMENT ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to amend the Tramway Ordinance, 1902."

The Colonial Treasurer seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

The objects and reasons are:—
The object of this Bill is to amend the Tramway Ordinance, 1902, in certain respects.

Section 1 of the Bill is formal.
By section 2 of the Bill, an accidental omission from that section of the words "telegraphic or electric" after the word "telegraphic" in the seventeenth line of the section is rectified.

Sections 3 and 4 simplify the procedure to be adopted in case of dispute or difference between the Tramway Company and the Government or between the Tramway Company and any other person.

By section 5 a re-arrangement of the conditions under which the Tramway service is provided is effected, and it is provided that the new arrangement will be more satisfactory than the former one both to the public affected and the Company itself.

STEAM LAUNCH AND RIVER TRADE STEAMER (PROTECTION AGAINST PIRACY) ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to extend the provisions of the Steam Launch (Protection against Piracy) Ordinance, 1900, to certain classes of steamers."

The Colonial Treasurer seconded, and the motion was agreed to.
The objects and reasons are:—
The object of this Bill is to extend to certain classes of steamers the compulsory maintenance of certain precautionary measures, against piracy and robbery, which under the provisions of the Steam Launch (Protection against Piracy) Ordinance, 1900, have now to be taken in the case of Steam Launches.

THE EDUCATION ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the registration and supervision of certain schools."

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the motion was agreed to.

The objects and reasons are:—
The object of this Bill is to provide for some extent of controlling and supervising to some extent certain of the Educational establishments which exist or may be brought into existence in the Colony. The scheme of this Bill is that every school shall be compulsorily brought within the knowledge of the Department of Education. The provisions of the Bill are not to apply in any way to Government schools. Military schools or any other schools which the Governor-in-Council may think fit to declare not to be included within the purview of the Bill. Under the scheme of this Bill, schools are to be divided into two main classes: firstly those of superior type which will only be subject to a very limited amount of supervision and control by the Education Department; secondly, schools of less superior type which will be subject to more close supervision and control by the Education Department.

Section 1 of the Bill is formal.

Section 2 defines the various special phrases which are used in the Bill in connection with its provisions.

Section 3 deals with those schools to which the Bill does not apply.

Section 4 provides for the appointment of the necessary officers for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the Bill.

Section 5 is important, providing as it does that every school with the exceptions referred to in Section 3 must be registered under the provisions of the Bill.

Section 6 provides the penalties which are necessary in order to enable the provisions of the Bill to be carried out effectively.

Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10 provide a simple method by which schools may obtain registration under the Bill.

Section 11 similarly provides the means by which a school of the superior type mentioned above may obtain a certificate which will give it the advantage of limitation of its supervision and control by the Department of Education.

Section 12 gives power to the Governor-in-Council to make regulations for the proper sanitation of, enforcement of discipline in, the prohibition of unsuitable books in, and the proper keeping of school registers in and other general matters relative to schools and under Section 13 any such regulations must be published in the Gazette.

Section 14 prescribes the inspection of registered schools and the more limited supervision of exempted schools.

Section 15 gives a right of entry to schools at suitable hours for the principal officers of the Education Department.

Sections 16 and 17 are important and provide for the steps which may be taken in the event of a school being found on a result of inspection by the Education Department not to be complying with regulations applicable or not being conducted satisfactorily; and if the errors are not after formal notice has been given for their rectification, duly amended, it is even possible for such school to be closed.

Section 18 provides for the keeping by the Registrar of a register of schools containing such particulars in connection therewith as may be necessary.

Section 19 gives an appeal from any decision of the Registrar to the Governor-in-Council.

By Section 20 power is reserved to the Governor-in-Council to put a stop to any school which is being conducted in a manner prejudicial to the interests of the Colony, to the public or to its pupils.

By Section 21 the Chinese Vernacular Educational Board which was constituted on the 7th September, 1911, and the on the 7th September, 1911, and the existence of which, after the passage of this Bill, will be no longer of utility is abolished.

COMPANIES AMENDMENT ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to amend the Companies Ordinance, 1911."

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the motion was agreed to.

The objects and reasons are:—
The object of this Bill is to introduce some amendments into the Companies Ordinance, 1911: amendments suggested by members of the Commercial Community.

Section 1 of the Bill is formal.

Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 13 and 15 introduce the obligation that Companies which propose to obtain the benefits under the law must provide in the English language their memorandum of association, articles of association, register of members, annual list of members, special or extraordinary resolutions, prospectus or statement in lieu of prospectus, and the special statement required to be made by banking, insurance, benefit and similar Companies.

The reason for this obligation, apart from the facilities which will thus be accorded to the Registrar, is the greater practical publicity which will be afforded in connection with those statutory documents from which the public are entitled to ascertain the standing of an incorporated body.

Section 6 (b) provides that where a Company is formed for the purpose of taking over a business, the statutory report shall show any change taking place in the financial position of the Company between its incorporation and the date of the report.

The reason for this proposal is that shareholders or intending shareholders may be able to know precisely what the financial position of the Company really is. Subsection (c) of the same section provides for the audit of the above mentioned statement.

Section 9 lays down the minimum requirements of the books which a Company must keep and it would not appear that any respectable Company could reasonably object to the maintenance of these normal business records.

Section 12 amends a mistake in subsection (c) of section 89: the qualifying words which are now deleted imposed a restriction to which, obviously, a very large number of local Companies which had issued a prospectus could not be amenable.

Section 14 renders a Company as well as its officers liable to penalty for refusal to permit inspection of its registerable mortgage liabilities by duly legally authorised parties.

Section 16 provides for some definite check over the appointment and capacity of auditors in order to insure that the integrity of audit may be expected.

Section 17 is designed to remove a difficulty which arises in the language of section 180, by which it would appear that a Company was not able to transfer its assets to any Company other than a local Company to a hardship which it seems desirable to remove.

Section 18 has as its object the giving of power to a Company incorporated in the United Kingdom or in a British Possession to acquire immovable property without some of the restrictions with which this power is limited in the case of Foreign Corporations.

OFFICIAL SIGNATURES FEES ORDINANCE.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of the Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to amend the Official Signatures Fees Ordinance, 1895."

In doing so he said:—On the second reading of this Bill, Sir, there is really nothing for me to say, because the objects and reasons are fully explained in the objects and reasons which are attached to the Bill. It will be seen that there are a certain number of officers added to the existing list who are authorised to charge for their signatures when it is necessary that they should give their signature in an official capacity. Of course, the fees they receive go to the revenue: they do not take them themselves.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a second time.

Council then resolved itself into committee to consider the Bill clause by clause.

On resuming, the Attorney-General reported that the Bill had passed through committee without amendment, and moved that it be read a third time.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

FOREIGN SILVER AND NICKEL COIN ORDINANCE.

The Colonial Secretary moved that Council go into Committee on the Bill entitled, "An Ordinance to prohibit the importation and circulation of certain foreign coins."

The Colonial Treasurer seconded, and the motion was agreed to.

On Council resuming, the Colonial Secretary reported that the Bill had passed through Committee with slight amendment, and moved that it be read a third time.

The Colonial Treasurer seconded, and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

His Excellency—Will the Council be prepared to go on with these Bills this day week?

Hon. Sir Kai Ho Kai—I think with all except the Companies Ordinance.

The Attorney-General—There is nothing very much in that.

Hon. Sir Kai Ho Kai—We have to discuss it.

His Excellency—We need not finish these Bills in the one day. We can take the second reading. Council stands adjourned till this day week.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the Finance Committee was held afterwards—the Colonial Secretary presiding. The following votes were passed:—

PRISON DEPARTMENT.
The Governor recommended the Council to vote a sum of $1,000 in aid of the vote Police and Prison Departments, C—Prison, Other Charges, Materials for Remunerative Industries.

NEW TERRITORY ROADS.
The Governor recommended the Council to vote a sum of $1,750 in aid of the vote Public Works, Extraordinary, New Territories, Miscellaneous, Resumption of land for road from Taiipo to the Frontier.

SUPREME COURT.
The Governor recommended the Council to vote a sum of $500 in aid of the vote Judicial and Legal Departments, A—Supreme Court, Other Charges, Furniture.

PUBLIC WORKS.
The Governor recommended the Council to vote a sum of $5,720 in aid of the vote Public Works, Extraordinary, Hongkong, Miscellaneous, Miscellaneous Works.

GOLF COURSES.
The Governor recommended the Council to vote a sum of $11,000 in aid of the vote Public Works, Extraordinary, New Territories, Resumption of Land for Golf Courses at Fanling.

The Chairman—Government has agreed to, and the Secretary of State has approved of, the lease of certain Crown lands consisting chiefly of low hills near the Fanling-Autau Road to the Golf Club for a ladies' course. The Club is not in a financial position at present to buy out the occupiers of intervening lands, and so utilise the area granted, and accordingly the Government has agreed, with the concurrence of the Legislative Council, to buy them out of a block of land rather more than necessary for the purpose of the proposed course, and lease a portion of this land to the Club, charging 4½ per cent. on capital expended, until such time as the Club may be able to acquire it on its own account. The remaining portion, it is contemplated, may be used for an Economic Garden, and that project will be submitted later to Council if necessary. The amount of land involved in all is 57½ acres, of which about 42 acres will be leased to the Club, about $10,000 being the sum required for that portion. The Club has spent, or is engaged in spending, $70,000 on improvements in the locality, and it is felt by Government that some encouragement should be given in the circumstances. The revenue derived by the railway for the use of the Golf Course at Fanling is estimated at $10,000 per annum.

LORD KITCHENER'S STORY OF EGYPT.

The annual report of Lord Kitchener, His Majesty's Agent and Consul-General, on Egypt and the Sudan is issued in the form of a White Paper. The document, which covers nearly sixty folio pages of closely-printed matter, is of more than ordinary interest.

It is satisfactory to be able to record, says Lord Kitchener, "that the observations I made last year on the political situation in Egypt have apparently borne fruit. There has been a marked diminution of party feeling and party strife, and I notice indications of greater confidence in the Government, particularly among the silent mass of the people."

I hope I am not too optimistic in considering these to be signs that in the near future the population will be again closely united, and while placing personal interests aside, will endeavour to work together for the common good and to further the real interests of their country.

In the meantime, I trust it is fully realised that the Government are doing all in their power to improve the condition of the people and help them forward on sound lines both as regards their material and political progress."

Briefly touching on the Balkan War, Lord Kitchener states that, as a consequence of that struggle, "the past year has been one of considerable anxiety. Defective military arrangements appear to be responsible for this breakdown of one of the finest fighting armies that existed in the world during the war with complete self-control, and maintained this attitude in spite of the natural feeling aroused by the sufferings of those of their co-religionists who were exposed to the hardship of war."

Referring "very briefly to the misguided action of a few fanatical persons" who were influenced by the example of Wardani to conspire to assassinate prominent officials in the country, his lordship said the plot, if successful, could only have done great harm and thrown back the progress of Egypt for many years. It was discovered in time and the conspirators were punished.

Reviewing the financial condition of Egypt, Lord Kitchener emphasises how greatly the level of prosperity now reached depends on the maintenance of the price of cotton. Were this to decline considerably the pressure on the finances of the country would be extremely severe. The Government, however, is thoroughly alive to the expediency of developing the resources of the country in other directions whether agricultural, mineral, or industrial, although in the last case there are, as yet, but slight indications of progress.

The Government have now elaborated measures to stimulate thrift among the rural population, and to prevent improvident borrowing, which results, it is hoped, will follow naturally from the establishment of rural savings banks and the enactment of the Five Fedden law.

The other main reform established is the Cantonal Justice law, by which notables as unpaid magistrates are enabled to administer justice in petty cases, only to administer justice in petty cases.

Dealing with irrigation, Lord Kitchener remarks that a project is now being studied, and will, it is hoped, be put into execution before long, for utilising the power of the water flowing through the Assuan Dam to produce artificial manures, and for other purposes, such as working pumps in Upper Egypt. The cotton crop of last year was only equalled by that of 1910 and the people worked with much more heartiness against the ravages of the cotton worm than in any previous year with excellent results.

Lord Kitchener states that he has been struck by the lack of roads in Egypt suitable for animal and motor traffic, and to meet this need a Main Roads Department has been formed.

Regret is expressed that urgent reforms in the judicial organisation of the Mixed Courts should have been delayed by want of unanimity amongst the Powers whose consent is necessary for their introduction. The Consul-General is of opinion that under present conditions the existing courts are not an efficient instrument for the protection of the very large financial interests held by foreigners in Egypt.

Peaceful development, says the report, continues in the Sudan, which has thus been enabled to take another stride in its advance towards prosperity. A rearrangement of the Sudan-Uganda boundary has been proposed, by which tribes at present split up will be left wholly in the Sudan and Uganda respectively, and the Sudan and Uganda side of the Nile will come under the same administration. This will enable the authorities to deal more effectively with sleeping sickness.

JEWIS OF THE WORLD.

FUND FOR THE PURCHASE OF LAND IN PALESTINE.

LONDON, June 2nd.

The Jewish correspondent of the London Standard writes to that paper as follows:—

A graphic story is unfolded in a pamphlet just issued by the Jewish National Fund of Cologne. The object of the fund is the purchase of land in Palestine for settlement by Jews. Three-quarters of its assets—over $750,000—are invested in Palestine, and the Jews of the whole world have rallied to the support of a project which exercises so strong an appeal to its sentiment.

The object of the pamphlet is to bring prominently before the public the remarkable position of the Jews of Yemen, in Southern Arabia, and by that means to encourage the emigration to Palestine of large numbers of these indigent children of Israel. Yemen is referred to by Jeremiah and many legends cluster around the beginnings of the Yemenite Jews. When they first settled in South Arabia it is still open to question, but according to local tradition, their settlement dates back forty-two years before the destruction of the first temple. Ezra, "as he was about to build the second temple, sent a message to the Jews of Yemen calling upon them to return to Palestine, but they declined the invitation on the ground that the final salvation had yet to come." Ezra, in his anger, prophesied that they would never enjoy permanent peace in Yemen, and that their wealth would not endure. The prophecy was fulfilled. For two thousand years they have remained in exile. Generations have come and gone, yet their poverty remains extreme. A recent census places the number of Jews in Yemen at eight thousand families—about 30,000 souls—scattered over a few hundred places. The largest communities are in Aden and Sanaa. A few years ago Sanaa had 10,000 Jews; to-day there are fewer than 2,700.

A recent investigator observes that the material position of the Yemenites in general is very bad. Centuries of war and revolts, hunger and cholera, have impoverished the land and laid it waste. There is a lack of industrial labourers. One may journey for days and see fine soil lying uncultivated on either side. If one enters a dwelling one is at once struck by the poverty. There is a complete lack of furniture, crockery, bedding, food and clothing. The Moslems, as seems, cannot do without the Jews, as they alone are hard-workers. They provide the peasants with the manufactures they need, repair their ploughs and weapons, and weave their shirtings. They are repaid for this, says the writer, already quoted, "after the harvest, if all goes well, with a portion of the harvested durrah. This is the case if there is a good harvest. But what happens if the harvest is a failure? The fellah will find himself with a sufficiency of corn to sustain himself throughout the year, but the Jew finds the reward of his labour denied him."

Three-fourths are artisans—tailors, shoemakers, weavers, goldsmiths, potters, masons. They are frugal in the extreme. Even a "rich" Yemenite has no more than one course at his week-day meal. Yet, despite their modest requirements, they are unable to earn the minimum for their existence, and "hunger is a frequent guest." For uncounted years the victims of Yemenite persecution, unable from their scanty lack of numbers, to retaliate, "The Jew is officially called in the legal terminology 'The common fellow.' A number of the laws aimed at the outcome of religious fanaticism. Besides, a population which has no on a low level of culture, which has no intellectual occupation and distraction, and which has an abundance of leisure at its disposal, is easily moved by brutal instincts, which find an outlet in tormenting the weak minority and treating them as pariahs. This would explain a number of ridiculous but insulting regulations, particularly in regard to clothing and social intercourse, which have their origin in this circumstance. If a Jew meets a Moslem of any class whatever he must greet him and address him as his master. If he does not do this he is beaten without mercy. A Jew is not allowed to ride upon a donkey, still less upon a camel. He must make his journeys on foot—there are no vehicles in Yemen—though the distance be great. The rich Jews must also appear poor, so that they may not provoke envy and expose themselves to plunder."

"A Jew may not pass on the right side of a Moslem, but must always keep on his left." It is hardly to be wondered at, in the light of the social and economic disabilities experienced by Yemenite Jews, that "every Jew sells his belongings as well as he can and emigrates to Palestine. In cases in which they leave their goods behind them and put their trust in God," behind them and put their trust in God."

This immigration into Palestine has made new men of these shuttles of fortune and it has, moreover, been greeted with profound satisfaction by those who recognize in their coming a new factor in the development of the Holy Land.

"Though Palestine may not by any means have reached that high level of development in agriculture and industry which it can attain by reason of its natural conditions, it can, nevertheless, easily provide a place of refuge for 1,000 to 1,200 oppressed Yemenites each year, even in the present circumstances. Added to this, the coming of the Yemenites will do much to counteract the scarcity of labourers and the ruinous increase in the terms dictated by the fellahs. The creation of a Jewish labour element in the Jewish colonies of Palestine will render the agriculturists gradually independent of the surrounding Arab population."

Such is the love of the Yemenite Jew for Palestine that "he will often travel on foot for months with his wife and child to reach the port where he can embark on a ship that will bring him to the Holy Land." He has brought new life to Palestine, and places himself on the high road to the recovery of his self-respect and the independence so long denied him.

There still remains the vital question of building a sufficiency of houses to accommodate the pilgrims. Already the National Fund has increased a considerable amount for this purpose, but the undertaking is a heavy one.
